I consent to the collection and use of the above information to this office of chiropractic. I authorize this office and its staff to examine and treat my condition as the doctors see fit. I hereby authorize the doctor to release all information necessary to any insurance company, attorney, or adjuster for the purpose of claim reimbursement of charges incurred by me. I grant the use of my signed statement of authorization with my signature for required insurance submissions. I understand and agree that all services rendered to me will be charged to me, and I'm responsible for timely payment of such services. I understand and agree that health/accident insurance policies are an arrangement between an insurance carrier and myself. I understand that fees for professional services will become immediately due upon suspension or termination of my care or treatment. I authorize payment of medical benefits to Ryan Walt/Hometown Chiropractic for services performed.

Informed Consent
The doctor will use his hands or mechanical instruments upon your body in such a way as to move your joints. This procedure is referred to as "spinal manipulation" or spinal adjustment". As the joints in your spine are moved, you may experience a "pop" as part of the process.
There are certain complications that can occur as a result of a spinal manipulation. These complications include, but not limited to: muscle strain, cervical myelopathy, disc and vertebral injury, fractures, strains, and dislocations, Bernard-Horner's Syndrome (also know as oculosympathethetic palsy), costovertebral strains & separation. The most rare complication is a stroke but not limited to that. The most common complication or complaint following spinal manipulation is an ache or stiffness at the site of the adjustment.

The doctor is aware of these complications, and in order to minimize their occurrence, he will take precautions. These precautions include, but not limited to, obtaining a detailed clinical history of you and examining you for any defect that would cause a complication. If the exam finds a need for x-rays, we will send you out of the office to obtain them. If you are pregnant, please let the doctor know that during the clinical history.

I have read the above information and hereby authorize this office of chiropractic to provide me with chiropractic care, in accordance with this state's statues.
